

Arizona State University's Center for Applied Behavioral Health Policy (CABHP) is pleased to announce
Community Reinforcement and Family Model (CRAFT) 2 Day Training
Thursday and Friday, February 25 and 26, 2010 from 9:00AM to 4:30PM

For decades, attention has focused on the user of substances, with little concentration given to those who surround the loved one's using behavior. Traditional approaches often promote confrontation, or portray the need for the client to "hit bottom". CRAFT is an effective approach that can benefit Concerned Significant Other (CSOs) of those affected by addiction. Without confrontation, CRAFT has been used in community treatment settings to get loved ones of those with substance use disorders to engage in treatment (generally 6 out of 10). CRAFT can improve the quality of life for CSOs, and reduce substance use, even for those who do not engage in treatment.

This 2 day CRAFT training is lead by CABHP's Dr. Raymond "Ande" Anderson who has been researching and practicing the CRAFT model since 2000. Learn more about how the CRAFT model when used in therapeutic settings has proven positive outcomes for the (CSO) as well as the person with substance use disorder, benefiting the whole family.

The CRAFT Model is highlighted in nationally acclaimed HBO "Addiction" Series-for more information visit:

Who Should Attend: Criminal Justice Professionals, Psychologists, Psychiatrists, Social Workers, Peer Support Specialists, Addiction and Mental Health Counselors, Marriage & Family Therapists, Case Managers, and nurses.

Learning Objectives:

Participants will:

1. Demonstrate CRAFT's efficacy and comprehend the research
2. Learn how to complete a "functional analysis" of the loved one's using behavior
3. Identify how to implement change in the communication of the CSO
4. Recognize when CRAFT is not an appropriate tool
5. Examine and understand the differences between enabling and positive reinforcement

Cost: $149, includes a certificate for 14 hours of continuing education hours from NAADAC (given at the conclusion of training)

Location: Arizona State University, College of Public Program, A.G. England Auditorium, 424 N. Central Ave., Phoenix, AZ 85004. The light rail stops just south of the building. Parking is included in the cost of the training in the ASU Visitor Parking lot on the Northeast corner of Central Avenue and Fillmore Street.
